IS KENTUCKY IN NEED OF THE TAX REFORM?

A MESSAGE

What Happened in "THE COW COUNTIES" in California and Why "THE DOG TAX COUNTIES" in Kentucky Should Emulate Their Ex-

California was suffering under the same system of taxation which prevails in Kentucky although many efforts had been made to change it.

The average citizen is opposed to innovations as a general proposition and while the state suffered and the burden of taxation fell heavily on the small property owner, as it does in Kentucky, it was hard to arouse the people and capitalistic classes managed to keep the old law in effect and went on hiding their personal property and escaping taxation, as they do in

"To get more land to pay MORE

A simple careless expression in a San Francisco newspaper caused a revolution of feeling and brought about the change which all Califor nians are now proud of.

The newspaper referred to printed an article to the effect that the same old Constitutional Amendment would be voted on at the November election and added facetiously that "the Cow Counties" would probably vote for it, Grange New Era.

and treated it as a joke. nated the power of "the Cow Counies" as this little attempt at witticism made "the Cow Counties" sit up and

The people in "the Cow Counties" ommenced to ask themselves: Why s it that farm lands and town property pay the bulk of taxes? Why are the owners of stocks, bonds, notes and other personal property able to get off scott free?

Have we a uniform system of taxaion in practice as well as in name And such like questions.

Well, the result was "the Cow Counles" in California determined to throw off the yoke and the amendment was overwhelmingly carried.

"To hide his property and pay NO

The same conditions exist in Kentucky to-day and the same opportunity for a change presents itself and it is farming business has improved and prosfer a change presents itself and it is pered just in proportion to the road fatucky to show their power and force cilities created. of personal property to the payment for the purpose.

The dog tax in Kentucky produces more revenue in 1912 ($127,651) than all the taxes from bonds ($32,425), cash in banks ($64,240), and stocks in corporations ($14,000); total $110,665, while farm lands and town lots and mprovements paid $3,177,360.

"The Dog Tax" Counties in Kenucky are in the same fix as "the Cow Counties" were in California and it is high time to quit barking and conmence biting. A vote for the tax amendment at the November election will make the other fellow do some howling, if "the Dog Tax" counties will only do their duty and vote for the amendment and enable the legislature to frame laws to make all classes of property pay their legitimate share

"We recommend, that the propose Constitutional Amendment should be adopted by the voters of the state. "This Amendment has been care fully drawn, its provisions are clear and plain.

"It follows precedents which have been tried and proved successful in other states.

"It authorizes practical changes which, in our judgment, if adopted, will increase revenue, remove restric ions now handicapping valuable enerprises, and place Kentucky upon a hir plane with other states which have shown marked progress and prosperity, as a result of sane and ound revenue laws. "It provides that any and all changes

nade thereunder in our tax laws up to 1917 must be approved by the people themselves after passage by the leg slature and their approval may be made a condition after that time, so hat the whole matter rests in the hands of the people. "We consider the amendment nec essary in order to enable the legislature to take the initiative in any effective revision of the revenue laws of the state, which have been condemned by the then State Tax Commissions and criticised annually by the State Equalization Board. W. O. DAVIS, Chairman,

What Is The Answer?

Here is a problem in arithmetic that puzzling all New York. It is taken from a very eld school book, and, despite its apparent simplity, the answers ob tained are greatly at variance. The

"A fox chased by a dog has 30 leaps the start of the dog. The fox taxes five leaps to the dog's three. But four lenps of the dog cover as much ground as seven leaps of the fox. At this rate, how many leaps will the fox take before the dog reaches it?"
